

Six sites in play for data centers. Two answer to Juneau.

● GOLD INK, STATE LAND ○ DASHED, FEDERAL
BEADS NOT TO SCALE ON THIS MAP

Two sit on state land. Four are federal calls.

The North Slope lease and the Houston land are decided in the Department of Natural Resources, whose commissioner the governor appointed. The Air Force decides three bases. FERC decides Cook Inlet's preliminary permit.

What they say about data centers.

BRONSON, REPUBLICAN
COMMONWEALTH NORTH FORUM

"I'm a big believer in data centers." He said the groups he is talking to would produce their own power.

KREISS-TOMKINS, DEMOCRAT
SEPTEMBER 8TH FORUM

"I support a moratorium on data center development in Alaska until the Legislature can pass a comprehensive regulatory framework for that development in Alaska."

TAYLOR, REPUBLICAN
SEPTEMBER 8TH FORUM

"I think we need to embrace it." Any data center, he said, must "bring their own energy."

WILSON, REPUBLICAN
BY TEXT MESSAGE

"I will never allow Alaska to be littered with hyperscale data centers that take our resources and spoil our lands."

ORDER IS ALPHABETICAL BY SURNAME, NOT A RANKING
QUOTES AS REPORTED BY THE ALASKA BEACON

•
ATIGUN PASS, BROOKS RANGE

Milepost 390. State land, 50 years.

DNR proposes a 50-year lease on 715.4 acres beside the Dalton Highway, 26 miles south of Deadhorse. Its final decision would be signed by the Division of Oil and Gas, under authority delegated from the DNR commissioner. The same decision says what powers it.

NE CORNER
69.922571 N
148.849662 W

THE PAD, ABOUT 640 ACRES

5 KM

"not interconnected to the Railbelt or any other Alaska utility grid"

THE PAD

A gas plant designed for 1 to 3 GW, all used on site. Two candidates raised the same point.

THE RAILBELT GRID

One state decision, three federal ones.

DNR proposes giving AIDEA about 19,950 acres two miles north of Houston. No final decision appears on the notice. The Air Force offered to lease about 4,700 acres at JBER, Eielson and Clear, with no award yet.

RAILBELT TRANSMISSION

HOUSTON, STATE
INK AREA TRUE TO ACREAGE

JBER

EIELSON

CLEAR

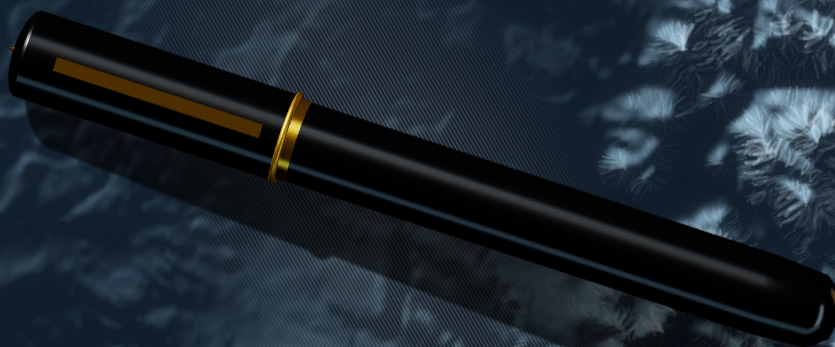

Filings close the day before the vote.

DeepGreen proposes a 100 MW subsea data center in Cook Inlet, and FERC decides its preliminary permit. The Kenai Peninsula Borough filed to intervene. The deadline is November 2nd.

ANCHORAGE

• NIKISKI

DEEPCGREEN,
APPROXIMATE

Who signs each one.

WHO SIGNS, THEN WHERE IT STANDS

● NORTH SLOPE LEASE, ADL 422741

DNR, under the commissioner's delegation
Preliminary decision. No final decision on the notice.

A DATA CENTER BILL

The Legislature, then the governor
Senate passed it 14 to 5, per the Beacon. The House didn't. A veto takes two-thirds to override.

○ JBER, EIELSON, CLEAR

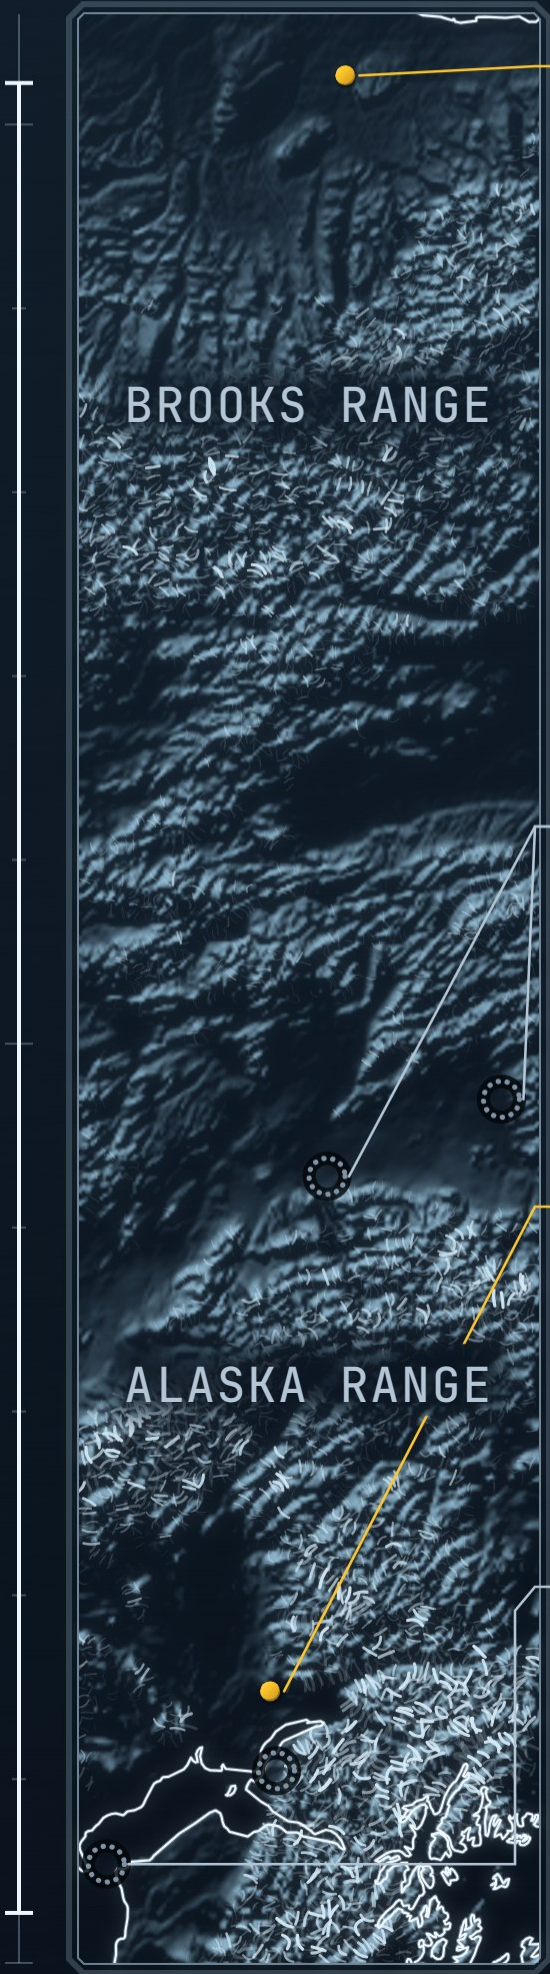

Department of the Air Force
Proposals closed June 29th. No award.

● HOUSTON LAND TO AIDEA

DNR
No final decision on the notice.

○ COOK INLET, P-15423-000

FERC, on a preliminary permit
Filings close November 2nd.

Save this.
Check it again
after November 3rd.

DENALI

