UA BOARD OF REGENTS · FAIRBANKS · NOVEMBER 4TH TO 6TH

Who drafted UA's AI statement?

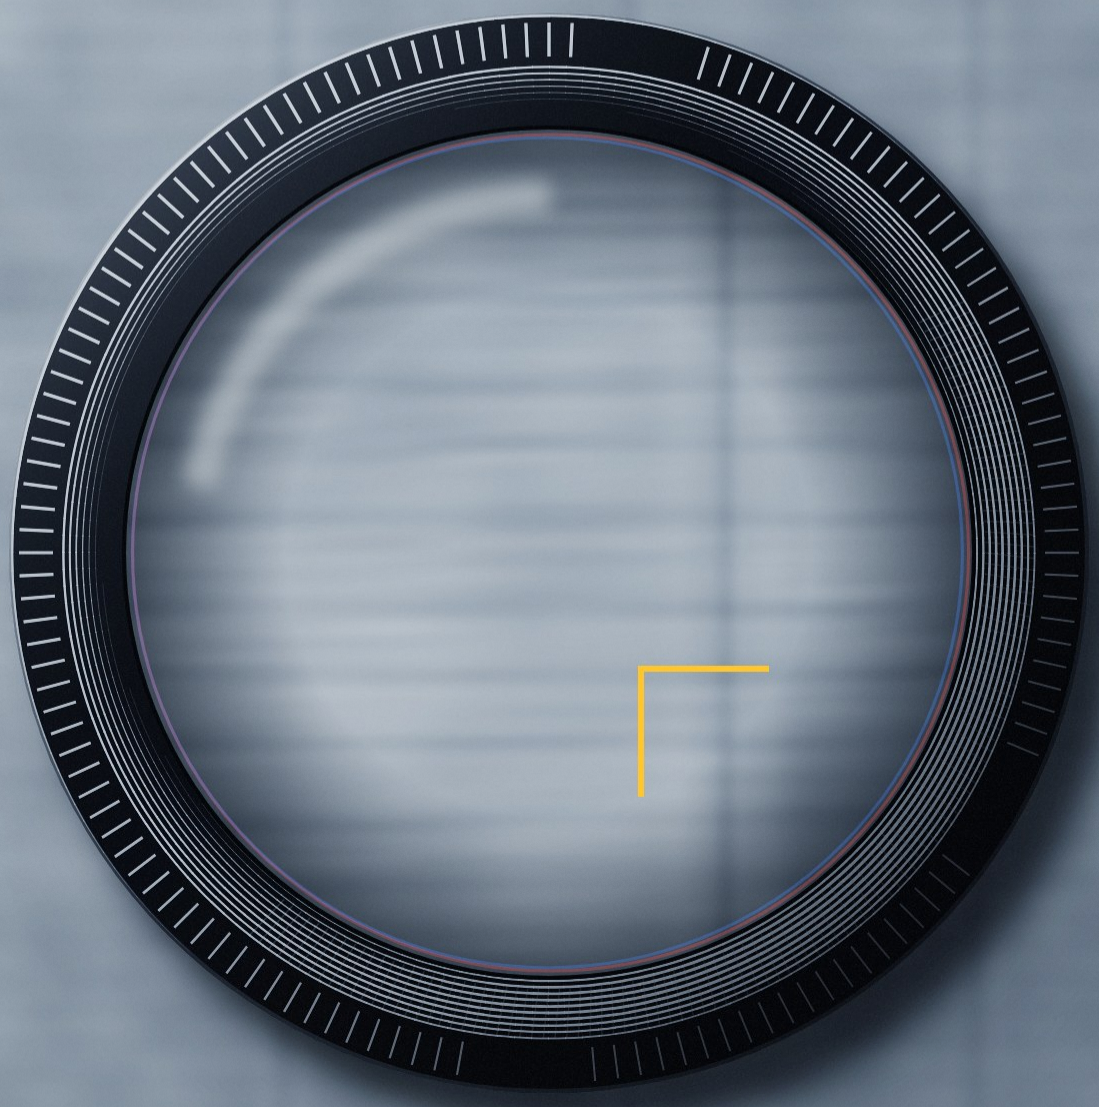

READ IN ORDINARY LIGHT

QUOTED · HARTLEY AND POTTER · ADN OPINION, NOVEMBER 4TH

Claude wrote the first draft, two UAA professors say.

Gregory Hartley and Joel Potter wrote that Anthropic's Claude "generated the initial draft," a fact "concealed for months" until October 9th. They want the regents to "abandon the document."

QUOTED · FIVE UA FACULTY · ADN OPINION, NOVEMBER 5TH

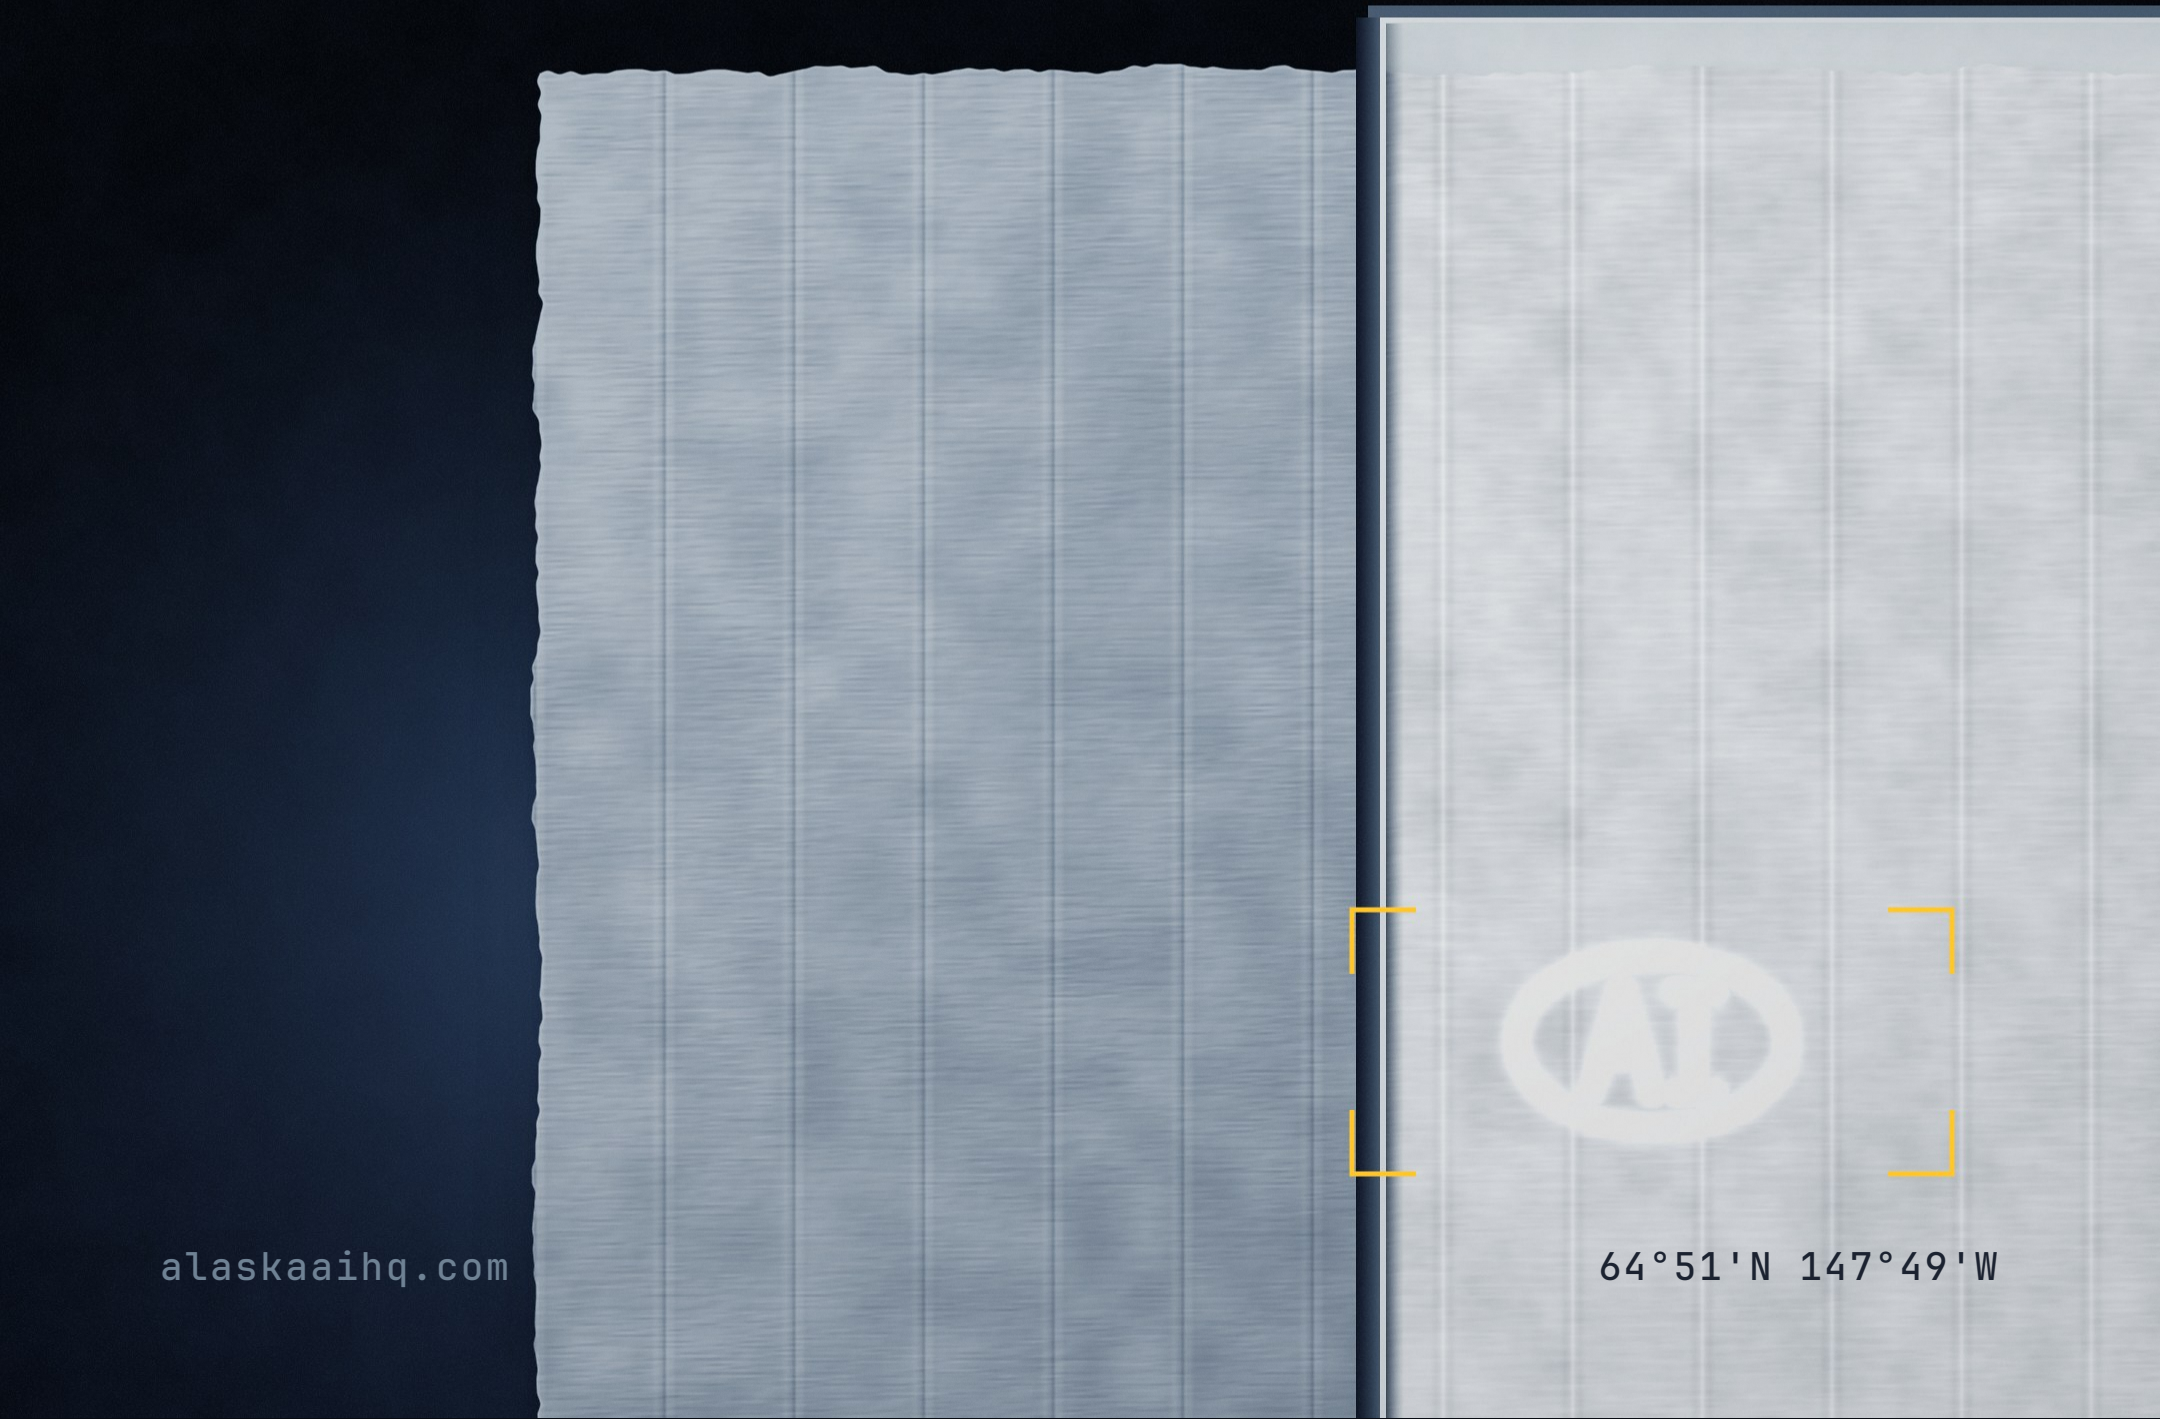

CARROLL · CASON · RYAN · HARNISH · TROCHIM

Five faculty answer it was no secret.

"Anyone who met with administrators and board members knew how the original draft was constructed," they wrote. Adding "a small AI attribution" later was, in their words, "a good move."

ORDINARY LIGHT

AGAINST THE LIGHT

64°51'N 147°49'W

THE DRAFTING RECORD, SOURCE BY SOURCE

Who said what happened when.

DASHED LEADER · AN OP-ED'S ACCOUNT ALONE

MAY

The board directs an AI strategy

PER UA

BEFORE OCTOBER 9TH

Claude generates the initial draft

PER HARTLEY AND POTTER

OCTOBER 9TH

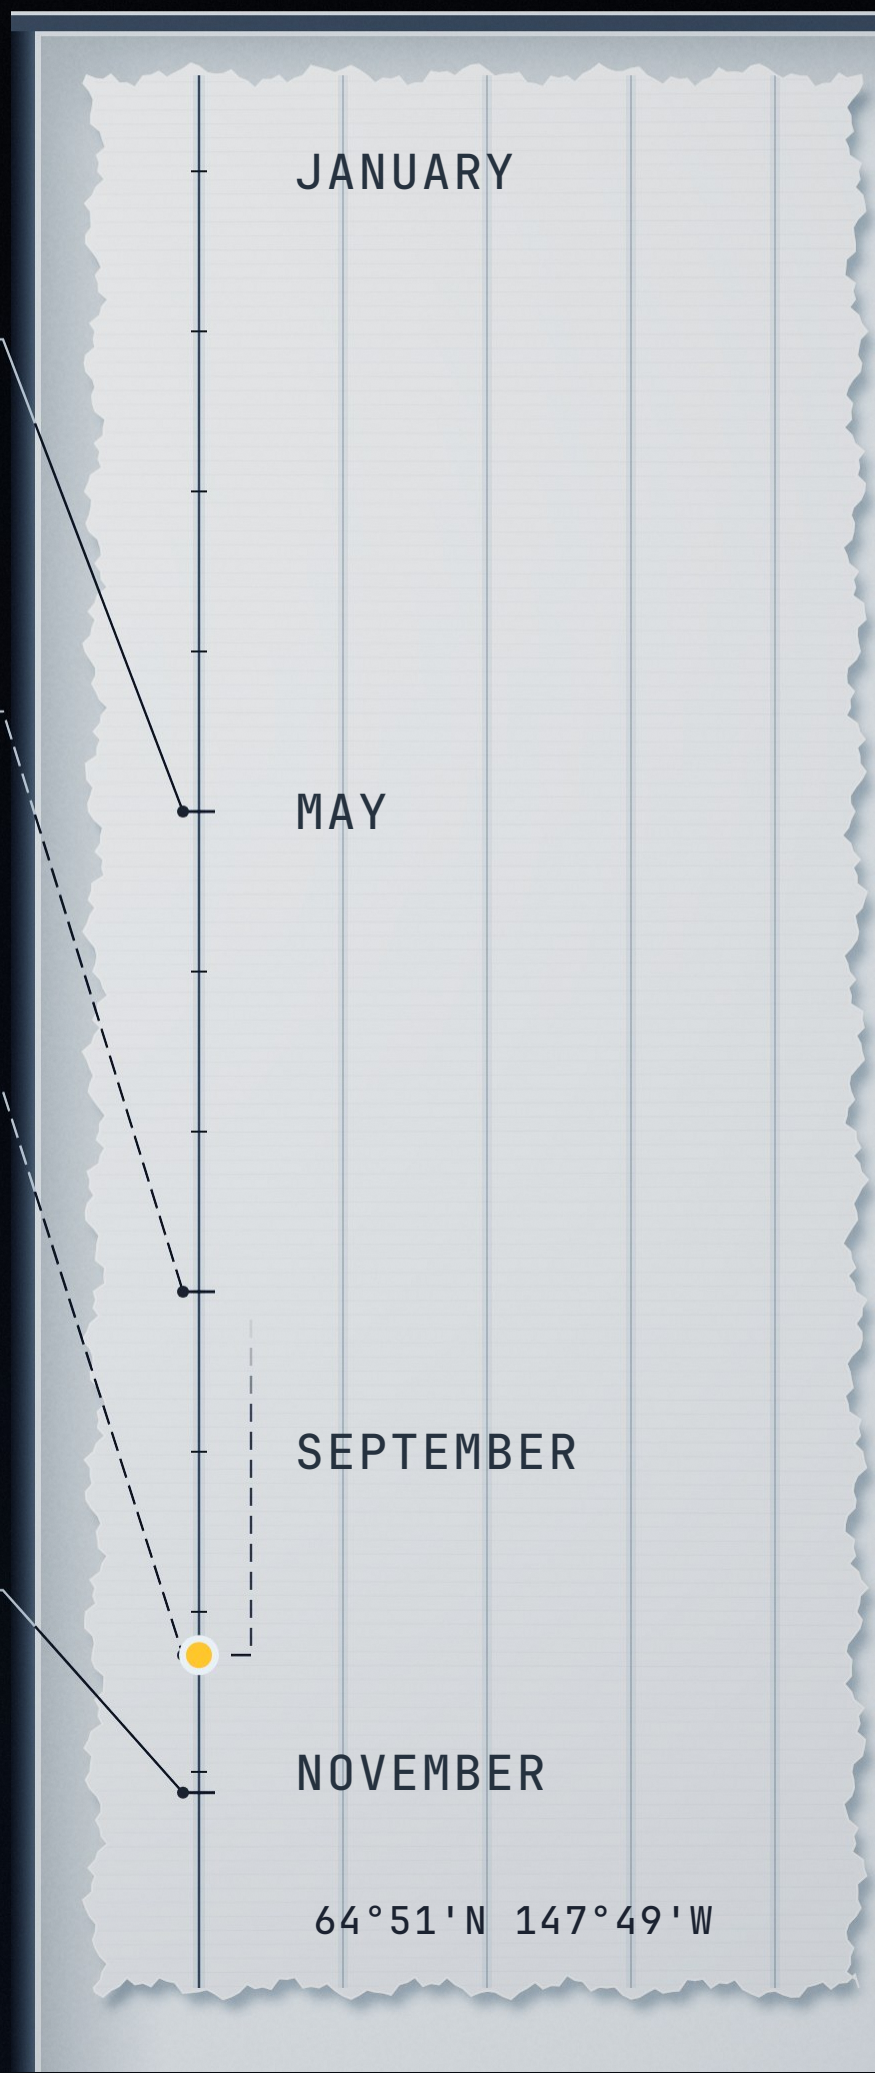

Claude’s role disclosed

PER HARTLEY AND POTTER, DISPUTED BY THE FIVE

NOVEMBER 4TH TO 6TH

Regents meet at UAF, vote set November 5th

PER UA AND THE OP-ED

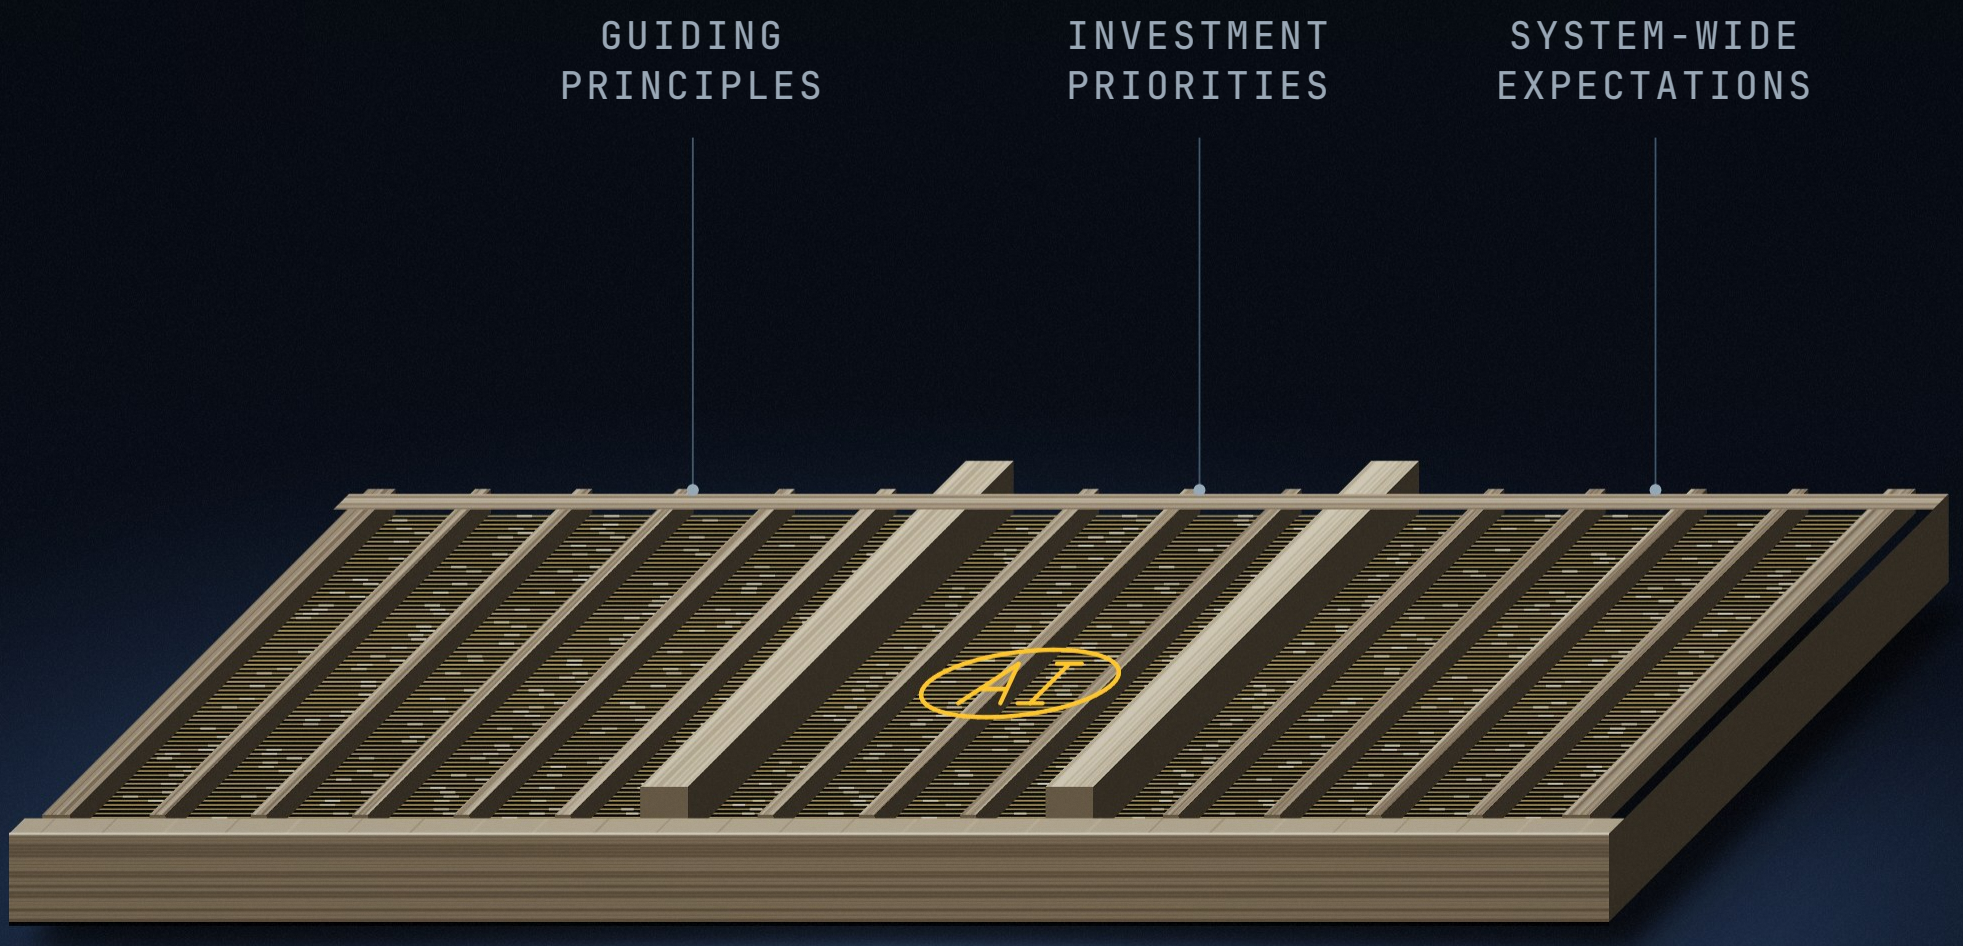

PER UA'S NOVEMBER 3RD RELEASE

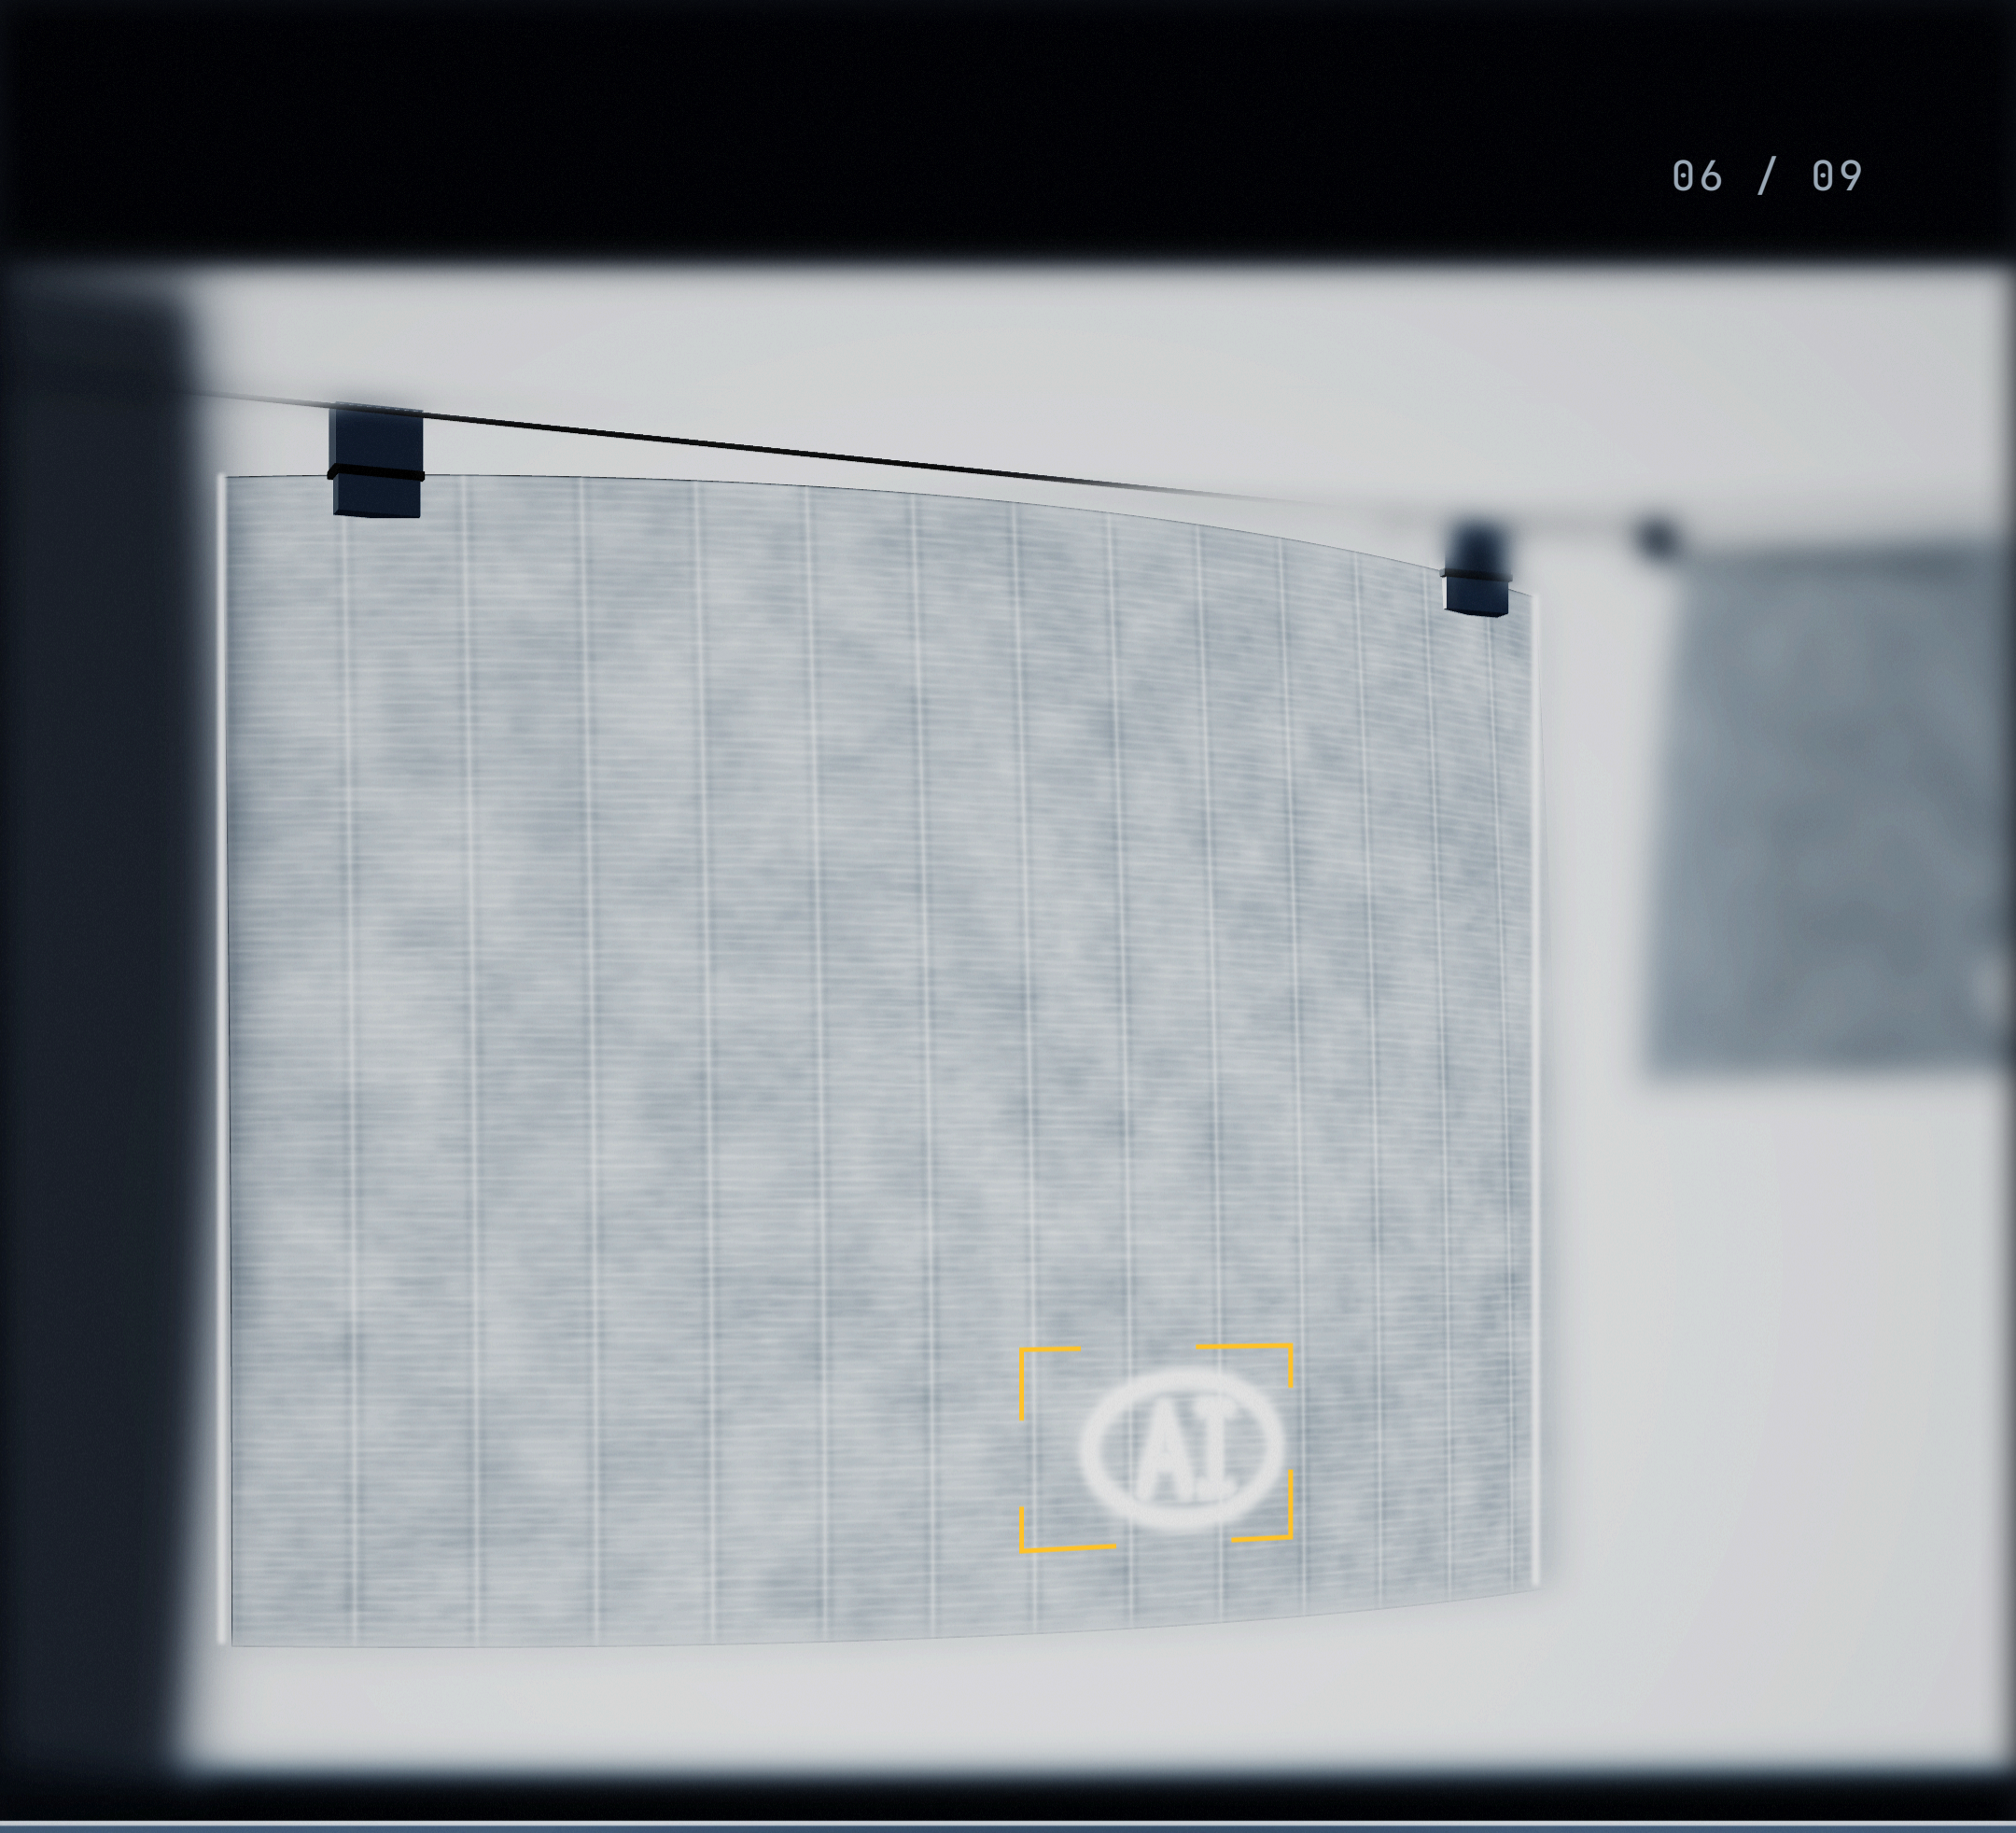

What the page would set.

Its stated intent, as Hartley and Potter quote it, is to "embrace artificial intelligence as a strategic enabler."

6 4 5

CURRICULUM AND INTEGRITY STAY WITH UAA, UAF AND UAS

HELD TO THE LIGHT

Against the light, the mark was always in the paper.

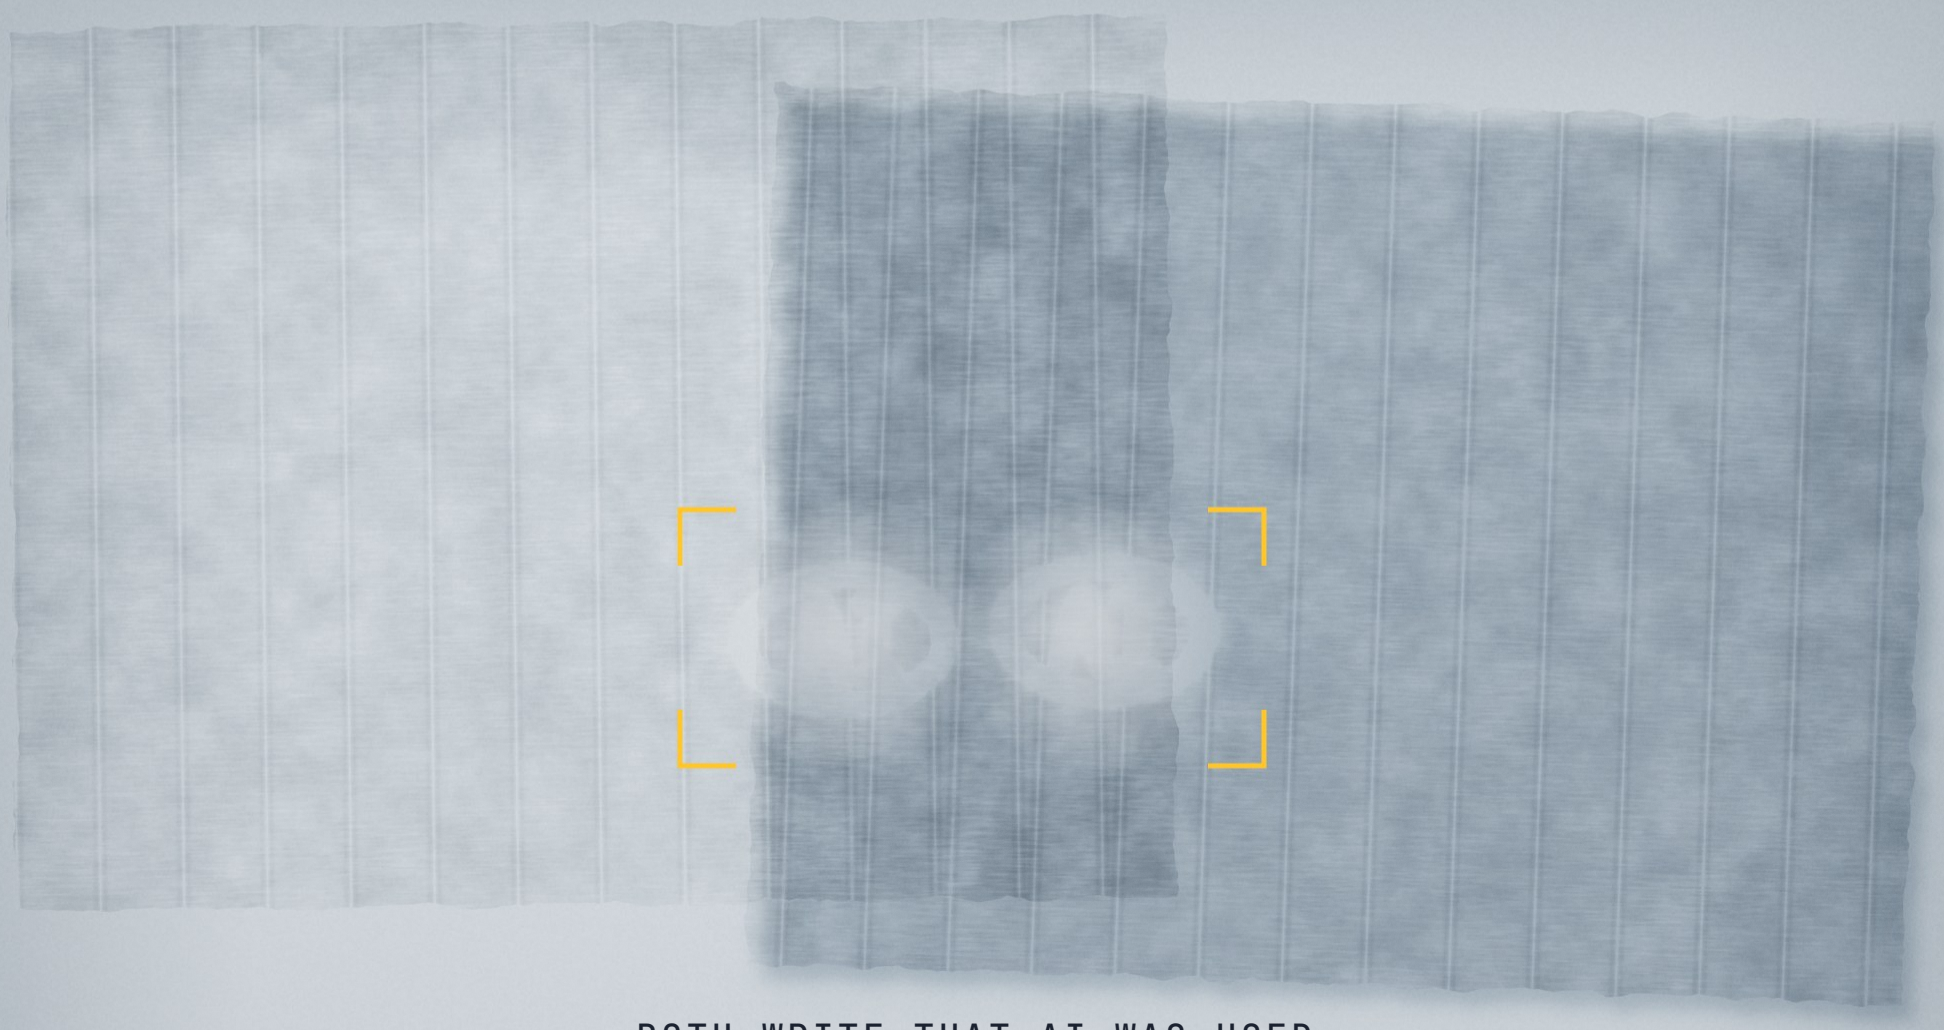

ALASKA.AI'S READING

Both can be true. That’s the problem.

People who met with administrators knew. The attribution on the page came later, a small one, by the rebuttal’s own account. Known in the room is not disclosed in public. A mark only insiders can see is a watermark.

HARTLEY AND POTTER

THE FIVE FACULTY

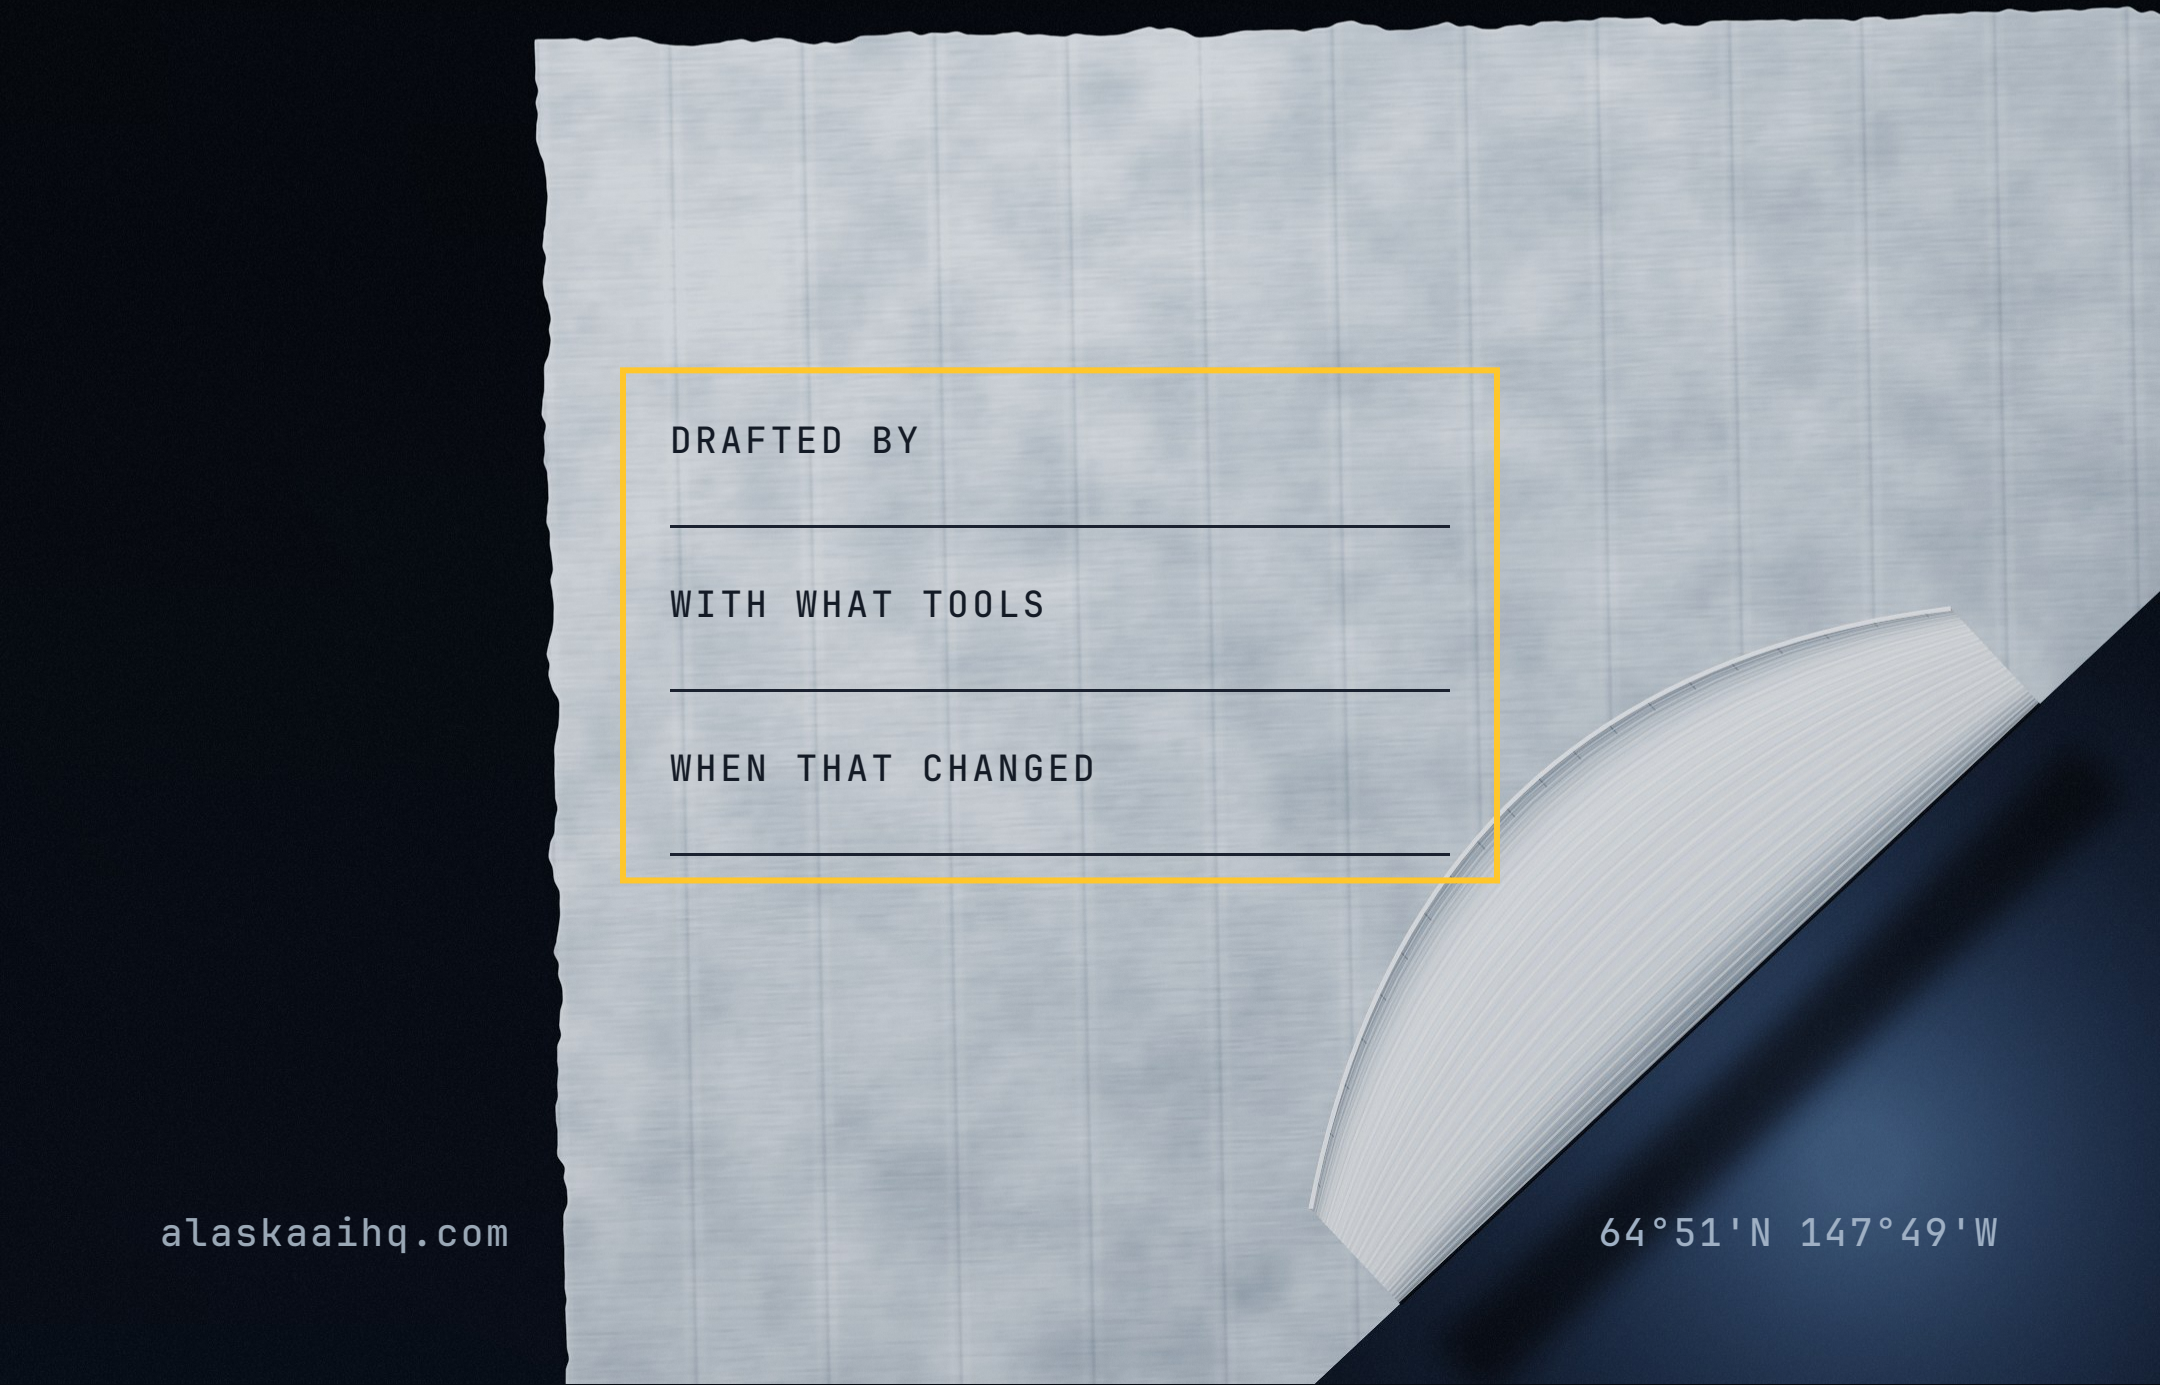

BOTH WRITE THAT AI WAS USED

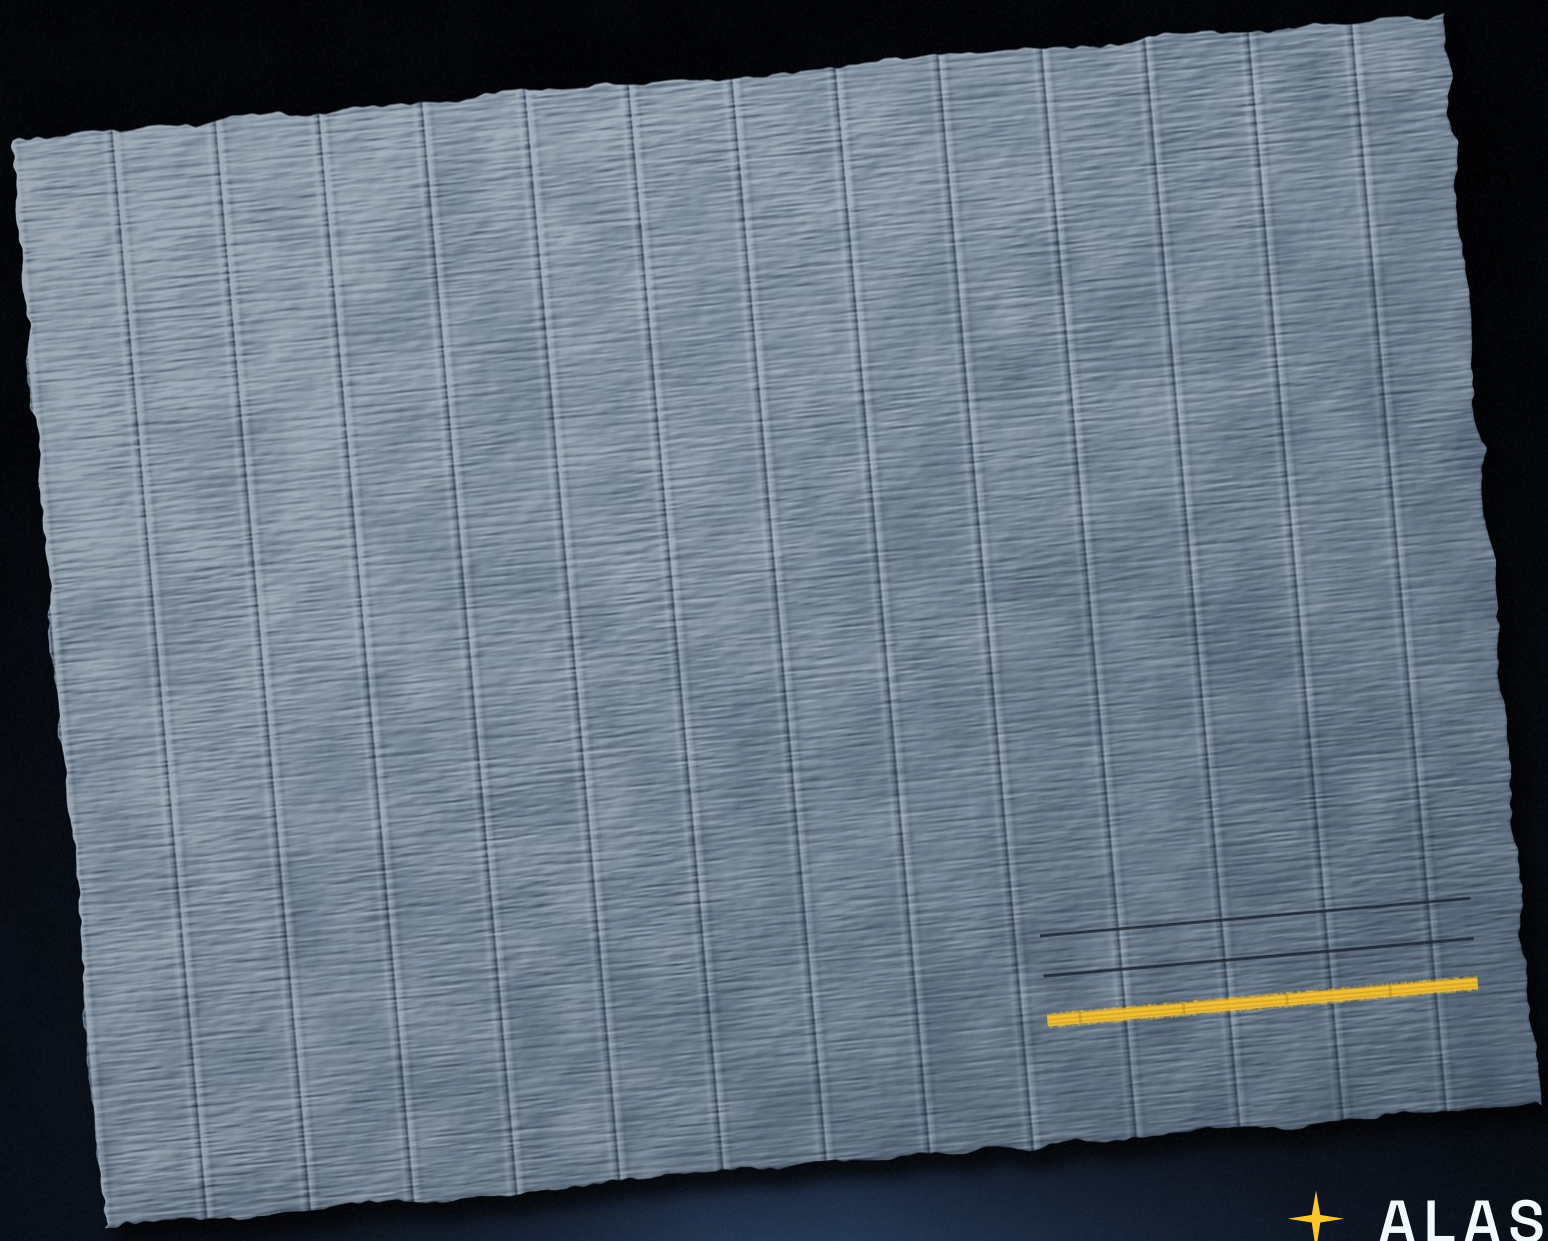

WHAT A PUBLIC DOCUMENT OWES ITS READERS

Print the credit line on the first draft.

On the page, where readers read it, from the first public draft. Hartley and Potter call the disclosure "too late." The five faculty call the attribution "a good move." Both treat it as owed.

Should every public document say who, or what, drafted it?

ALASKA.AI